Let there be (LED) light! Lowering energy use and our electricity bills

Wednesday 7 May, 1pm

Lighting specialist David Burch joins us to explore LED lighting, which has exploded in popularity in recent years. How much energy will they really save? When will we need to change bulbs, or whole light fittings? There will also be a chance to consider other energy savings measures useful in our churches.

Generating our own power: Photo-Voltaic (solar) panels

Wednesday 29 October, 1pm

Solar panels are a common feature of the English landscape in 2025, but how much energy do they generate, are they value for money, and will we get permission to install them in heritage contexts? Explore these and other questions in this webinar.

Heating our churches 1: Effective heating and Heat pumps

Wednesday 25 June, 1pm

Moving from gas and oil to electrically-powered heating systems is challenging, but the technologies exist. Energy specialist Matt Fulford will help us understand what heating system might be right for our church, and where heat pumps in particular may be the best solution.

Insuring for Climate Change and Net Zero

Wednesday 26 November, 1pm

Churches can play a significant role in tackling the challenges faced by Climate Change. However, this can involve complex considerations and planning. Joseph Davies, Church Support Manager with Ecclesiastical, will take us through some quick wins alongside the wider considerations for risk management and insurance when undertaking larger net zero projects.

Heating our churches 2: A 'heat the people' approach and Infra-Red heating

In some settings radiant heating may be the best solution to our heating needs. This webinar explores the products on offer, their running costs, and where they are best utilised.
