

COVID-19 Outdoor Worship and Churchyards

Issue Date	Version	Issued by
12 th January 2021	5.1	The House of Bishops Recovery Group
Update from version 5.0: on the 4 th January the Government announced a new national lockdown. This document has been revised to reflect the changes in guidance.

The Recovery Group has been set up to support the Church of England as government guidance changes through the COVID-19 pandemic. This document has been prepared with information available by the issue date. It will be kept under review and updated as the situation develops, with each update issued as a new version. The current version will always be available to download from the Church of England website via the Coronavirus FAQs page.

One of the learnings from the pandemic so far has been that transmission of the virus is reduced by activities taking place outdoors., More and more church communities may be thinking about how to use their churchyard or other nearby outdoor space for church activities. Specific Government guidance on places of worship and for performing arts highlights what is possible with outdoor worship.

There are many excellent resources to help with this, such as a wild worship field guide produced by the Sanctuary Centre and prayer stations from Engage Worship. Further advice and lots of practical resources and examples can be found on our new Outdoor Worship page here.

1. Q. Can we have worship in a churchyard or other public outdoor space?

A. Yes, but the precautions you need to take depend on how many people attend.

If you are intending holding an act of worship in a churchyard you must first carry out a risk assessment. The law allows for people to gather for worship, provided that individual households or support bubbles do not mingle. You can assess the capacity limits in the same way as you would for the inside of the building taking into account current guidance on physical distancing.

A risk assessment should be conducted, which includes security, guidance on physical distancing and other good hygiene practices implemented in relation to the COVID 19 virus. Guidance for this level of risk assessment is provided by the HSE and a template risk assessment is provided on the Church of England Coronavirus pages.

You must demonstrate that you have taken all reasonable measures to limit the risk of transmission of coronavirus using any guidance issued by the Government relevant to the gathering, such as is included in the places of worship guidance under outdoor worship and the guidance on green spaces.

2. Q. Can we sing outside?

A. The Government has advised that:

- Where singing or chanting is essential to an act of worship, this should be limited to one person wherever possible. Exceptionally, where it is essential to the service, up to three individuals should be permitted to do so. Strict social distancing should be observed and the use of Plexiglass screens should be considered to protect worshippers, and each other.
- Communal (congregational) singing should not take place indoors or outdoors. This applies even if social distancing is being observed or face coverings are used.

Under the Performing Arts guidance professional groups may continue to rehearse and train, and perform for broadcast or recording purposes. The numbers or people involved should be kept as small as possible to minimise risks and participants should follow social distancing guidance.

Please see Government guidance on places of worship and on Performing Arts for more information.

3. Q. Can we open the church grounds for people to walk through?

A. Yes. The government's advice is that people can leave their home to exercise once every day. Public gatherings of more than two people from different households are prohibited in law unless all involved are from the same household or 2 linked households. There is no limit to the size of a gathering in an outdoor space if the people gathered are all members of the same household.

The proven mental health benefits of being in nature are well known. For many of our urban churches, the church grounds are the only green space around, and offer a sanctuary. Having access to green space has never been more important than it is today for people's wellbeing, particularly for those without a garden.

Churchyards can be places of reflection. They can offer signs of hope and joy as well as sadness and mourning.

In all circumstances, as set out by the Government, it is absolutely crucial that people from different households/support bubbles maintain social distancing; ideally 2 metres, and if this is not possible then 1m plus appropriate measures to reduce risk of infection. The Government guidance gives helpful suggestions about managing physical distancing in outdoor spaces where there is considered to be an issue due to large numbers of people using them.

4. Q. Are we allowed to cut the grass and other gardening?

A. Yes. Whoever undertakes gardening, whether volunteer or professional, must take responsibility for the equipment that they use and for maintaining appropriate physical distancing. If they are using the church's equipment, then it should be sanitised before and after use.

This could be an opportunity to change your mowing regime by allowing suitable areas to grow long over the next few weeks, letting natural wildflowers grow and encouraging biodiversity. You can get advice on this from Caring for God's Acre.

5. Q. Can people visit to tend graves?

A. Yes. The government has included burial grounds as places that can remain open.

6. Q. People are congregating in the church grounds, what should we do?

A. Please do not put yourself at risk by attempting to move on groups of more than two people who are not from the same household. This is a matter for the police to enforce.

If this is a regular occurrence you may wish to consider signage as an intervention as suggested in Government guidance.

7. Q. We have local community groups that work in our grounds. Do we need to tell them to stop?

A. The professional organisations and charities that provide these services will have their own guidance on how to work during the Covid-19 emergency. You should ask about their compliance if they continue to use your grounds.
